

"Bringing Soulful tongue-in-cheek lyrics and a clean sound, combined with adrenaline fueled melodies and, tight harmonies; wrapped up nicely with savage drums. They have a unique and creative voice all their own and provide a performance that is wild and wacky; always leaving audiences wanting more."

"The SpydERS" are a rock and roll trio, formed in Harrisburg Pennsylvania by Zach Entenman (Guitar and vocals), Dan Ertel (Bass and vocals), & Benjamin Danner (Percussion).

The band made its debut performance December of 2010. Their popularity led to returning performances culminating in a live performance to 200+ people at the "New Years Bash" hosted by the Middletown Area Arts Collective and featured in Middletown PA's "Press and Journal."

On December 19 2010, they recorded their first full length album "Insert Title Here" and sold 300 copies in the first month of release. Touring was ground to a halt as Zach entered the Active Duty Military.

Though progress was slowed they continued to work and in 2013 the group released a new EP called "Either Way." Their new musical effort won them artist of the week on the Bacon and Music Blog. On his review of the work Music Journalist David Gillet remarked, "It doesn't have the driving force that pushes you through most songs nowadays, but a classic getting together with your buddies in the garage feel; and I dig that...ALOT!"

In 2019 the band released new singles "Missing" and "A Christmas Tryst". Their latest EP "Just Getting By" was released in July of 2020.
